

International Relations Law of October 2017

A law of how to handle international relations of the kingdom of Yadra based of text in the constitution.

Article 1 Treaties:

Section 1 Definition:

§. A treaty is a document which establishes a state of international relations between Yadra and another country or organisation.

§§. A treaty can also be an agreement between Yadra and another country or organisation to enforce certain laws. Therefore a treaty can have the force of law within Yadra.

Section 2 Ratification:

§. For a treaty to be ratified it has to be voted on by the national committee, the treaty also has to be voluntarily signed by the monarch to be ratified. It also once signed has to be signed by the monarch.

§§. Once a treaty is ratified it has the force of law.

§§§. In the case that a law, regulation or act contradicts a treaty the treaty will prevail in the conflict. However a treaty can never go against the constitution.

Article 2 Alliances, War and Recognition:

Section 1 Alliances:

§. An alliance is an agreement between two sovereign nations to work together in a military conflict or in future military conflicts.

§§. An alliance can be declared between two countries if the alliance is consented to by the monarch and the other sovereign nation.

§§§. If a nation which Yadra has an alliance with has been declared war upon Yadra has to aid their ally, the reverse is also true.

Section 2 War:

§. To perform non-defensive acts of war the monarch needs approval from the national committee.

§§. The monarch can use the military offensively in minor conflicts lasting less than 3 months however if approval by the national committee can not be granted within 3 months the offensive has to be halted or stopped.

Section 3 Recognition:

§. Only by the approval of the monarch can the kingdom of Yadra recognize another sovereign nation.

Article 3 Committee:

Section 1 Establishment:

§. There shall be a committee established known as “The committee for international relations”.

§§. The committee for international relations shall be headed by the Monarch to appoints a committee leader to head the committee in the monarchs stead.

§§§. The committee shall handle relations with other nations and organisations. The committee shall also advise the monarch and national committee on how best to handle international relations.

Signage: _____